JACK OUT OF A JOB.

UNION SAILORS DISCHARGED AT SAN FRANCISCO.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Company Ends an Old Dispute by Dismissing Employees
Disciplined to Work.

By Telegram to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The trouble which has been brewing for some time, between the Pacific Coast Steamship Company and the Steamship Sailors' Union, culminated this morning in a strike of the union sailors on the Coronado and Stato of California, on the consequence of which the departure of these vessels was delayed several hours.

The union sailors state that they were employed principally to handle freight at terminals and way-ports, and should not have been expected to work between ports.

The Coronado was to sail at 11 o'clock for the Hawaiian Islands, and the Stato for Honolulu. When men informed the officials that they would clean no more decks and do no more painting and rouabout work on the trip, the

The crew of the State of California, which was to sail for Portland at 10 o'clock, also left for the same reason.

Large crowds soon collected on the docks, and many persons were stationed there to preserve order. A full complement of non-union men was secured in a few hours, and both vessels sailed soon after noon.

"We have hired them long enough and they have become tired of it. They do not think they have ever required the men to do anything," said Capt. Gurdall said: "We pay these men $45 per month, which is about 10 percent more than anyone else pays them, and between ports, all they work overtime they get 50 cents an hour. On Sunday they work in this port from 7 to 9 o'clock a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m. and on the days that during busy and dull times wages have never been changed or in anywise affected. We simply want our sailors to work as sailors and not as dock hands and on. They refused and were discharged. The men were to have left here today, and did not want to do any more work until tomorrow. I wanted them to work during the afternoon and night shifts. A vessel gets beset with dirt in ports, and it is necessary to have her cleaned. Therefore the men have asked any more than is always asked of crew men on steamboats; but they have become very independent, and we have

"Last year when we were crowded with business the men would come to the officers and say they would not work between this port and San Francisco and they would say that they would have to work, and the men would say, 'we will leave you.' We were very busy, and rather than be bothered with the men, we would have to leave them until now we have become tired of that sort of thing, and will employ no union men. We have had many of this union all along, but we have pretty near the entire union in our employ."

The strike will probably affect no other lines. It is understood that all members of the union will be employed on the ships on vessels of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company running out of this port have been ordered out by the union.

THE COURTS.

WILLIAMS STILL ENJOINS SEVERAL JUDGES.
 Causes a Light Day's Business—A Bar of Bullion in Question—A Desperate Fight at Downey to Be Ventilated—New Suits.

Yesterday was quite a dull day in the courts of the city. Judge Cheney of Department No. 1 and Judge Clark of Department No. 2 of the Superior court were still unable, through sickness, to preside in their respective courtrooms, and their cases set for hearing went over. In Judge Clark's department Judge McKinley disposed of a few probate matters during the forenoon.

Yesterday, in Judge Wade's department of the Superior Court, the case of Wells-Fargo & Co. vs. Robert Stewart came up for trial, but by consent was continued for the session. The express company charges that in July, 1888, it sold a bar of gold bullion valued at $8000 to the defendant, then at Hill-reth, Fresno county, and has never been paid. The defendant claims that he never bought any bullion of the company.

Judge Wade, in his court, also granted the defendants in the "horizontal case" of Phillips et al. vs. City Tax collector Len Thompson until Monday next in which to file briefs.

The argument on a motion for the appointment of a receiver in the case of Weyse vs. Weyse was continued by Judge Van Dyke yesterday to some future day, owing to the absence of one of the attorneys.

Frank Boyd was examined for insanity yesterday morning by the commissioners, and was committed to the asylum at Stockton, where he was taken yesterday afternoon. The patient is not violent, but is afflicted with melancholia, and sits brooding over imaginary woes by the hour.

Quite an interesting case was set for preliminary examination yesterday, before Justice Gray at Downey, but owing to the bungled-up condition of the person directly interested, was postponed until a Wednesday. The defendant in the case is A. J. Brooks, who is accused by a man named Tyre with assault with intent to murder. The defendant had been living on the lower ranch, four miles from Downey, and had held it under a lease which recently expired. Mr. Tyre secured a lease of the place, and when Mr. Brooks went for some things he killed him on the place, the two men got to a quarrel, which resulted in a desperate fight. They fought for some time with a piece of iron which was quite sharp on one side. First one ran and got the weapon and then the other, and in the course of the struggle both were hurt and gashed, the battle ground being trampled up and spattered with blood. The faces of both were badly cut and lacerated. They were finally separated, one dead and the other dying. The fight took place a few days ago, and the complaints have been made to the coroner's office. Each claims that the other started the row, and both are determined to see the matter through. When the case was called yesterday morning S. M. Farson, Esq., retained by the defendant, being unable to be present, having been bleeding from the lungs. Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Diehl, who was present to represent the State, announced that the man was unable to be present, his physician having so announced. On this showing the examination was continued as stated.

NEW SUITS.
 B. F. Coulter began suit against C. B. Bisbee et al., to recover judgment for $821.90, balance on a promissory note for $2000.

A complaint in ejectment was filed by the executor, Andrew Brinkley, vs. Samuel Young and wife, to secure judgment for the restitution of certain land and $100 damages.

The California Loan and Trust Company began suit against H. T. Payne for foreclosure of a mortgage on lots 52 and 57, McDonald tract, in the San Pedro Rancho, to secure two promissory notes, one for $1725.40 and the other for $3450.80, given June 15, 1889.

The will of Edward D. Stone was filed yesterday, by which he bequeaths his property to his wife, Ada B. Stone.

Adolphus Knoch began suit against J. S. Luckenbach and Charles McCarthy, upon a land agreement, asking that the defendant make a deed to him and pay $200 damages for non-fulfillment of the agreement.

ELLA'S WARDROBE.
 She Thought It Was Not All There—A Scene.

Some days ago a woman named Ella Pierce, a former inmate of the house of prostitution kept by Lizzie Miller, decided to reform, but when she left the house the landlady kept part of her clothes and personal effects, claiming that the woman owed her board. The Pierce woman brought suit before Justice Austin for the recovery of the articles, and a criminal prosecution was also brought against Lizzie Miller for keeping a house of prostitution. The woman was found guilty as charged and fined $75, which she paid, and judgment was also given against her for the value of the clothing, amounting to $37, and she was directed to return the property, which she promised to do, and sent it to the police station. Ella Pierce called for her property yesterday morning, and, after looking it over, declared that it was not all there, and raised quite a scene. The police promised to look the matter up.

TWO INSANE MEN.
 Who Had Queer Crotchets in Their Heads.

An insane man named Charles Dominguez was arrested at the Catholic cemetery yesterday about noon by the sexton and taken to the police station, where he was locked up. Dominguez is insane on religion, and when caught was trying to climb to the top of a monument to offer a prayer. He will be detained a day or two, and if there is no improvement in his condition he will probably be sent to Stockton.

Last evening Officer Finucane noticed a middle-aged man acting queerly on Spring street and took him in. At the station the man gave the name of J. Edwards, and was locked up for medical treatment. He was either drunk or crazy, and was going along the street howling, to every woman he met.

Progress.
 It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Such is the one great desideratum. Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

THE EDITORS.

Excursions to Riverside and the Marble Quarry—Officers.
 RIVERSIDE, Feb. 12.—[Special Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The editorial party rose this morning refreshed from their slumbers at the Stewart Hotel, and took the train at 8 o'clock for Redlands, personally and generally conducted by Col. Williamson Dunn of the Southern California Company and also by those editors of the locality who were on their native heath and eloquent in their advocacy of the beautiful country through which the party journeyed. The storm had subsided and the morning was clear and beautiful. A short run of nine miles brought the party to the Redlands station, where carriages awaited their editorial highnesses, and they were driven over miles and miles of the lovely and fertile country, with its glowing orchards that are already making Redlands famous.

After an hour and a half of this enjoyable journey the party returned to the cars and returned to San Bernardino; thence to the marble quarry of Slaver Mountain, between Colton and Riverside, where they were shown the wonders of that immense deposit. Here is a marble sawmill, cutting and polishing work, where the immense blocks are taken out in the rough sawed into slabs, cut into all desirable shapes and polished to the brightness of a mirror. The establishment has the most complete appliances for handling the material, and it is claimed can handle blocks weighing four or five tons. Some that were there certainly looked that large, and were entirely safe from the covetous hands of the visitors, though many small fragments were carried off as souvenirs of a most interesting visit. The works employ 80 men, and are the source of many of the beautiful pieces of marble and onyx on view at the Los Angeles stores. The deposit is said to have been discovered by John C. Fremont, more than forty years ago.

From the quarries the party proceeded to Riverside, where it arrived at 12:30, and lunched at the Glenwood, after which it dispersed, taking in the beauties of town and enjoying the sight and taste of its magnificent oranges, displayed everywhere in the most lavish profusion and tempting manner. The size and beauty of these oranges has surprised even the veteran editor accustomed to exhibit, and indicate that Riverside is improving in the good work she has so well begun. They attend the citrus fair at the opera-house this afternoon, and in the evening their final meeting, at which officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Meanwhile the TIMES man is enjoying the genial hospitality of the Press and Horticulturist staff, under whose kind care he is penning these lines, and who are doing everything in their power to make the visit of their brethren pleasant.

Evening Session.
 The evening session was held in the Loring Opera-house.

D. M. Baker of the Executive Committee reported, recommending that E. A. Weed be dropped from the roll for conduct unbecoming a member. Dr. Dodson of the Red Bluff Sentinel made an eloquent address, after which Louis Munson of the Banning Herald read a paper on "The Amenities of Journalism."

John R. Berry of the San Diego Sun read a paper on "Independent Journalism."

L. M. Holt presented a communication from W. W. C. T. U., asking the association to use all its power to curtail the publication of the impure and criminal news which now so burdens the press. On motion of Mr. Craig it was received and ordered published with the proceedings.

The officers for the ensuing year were then elected as follows: President, Col. J. J. Ayers of Los Angeles; first vice-president, John R. Berry of San Diego; second vice-president, S. Bowers of Ventura; third vice-president, Booth of The Needles; secretary, W. R. Vail; treasurer, S. W. Holmes of Riverside; executive committee, Baker of Santa Ana, Marshall of Burbank, Tibbitts of Santa Barbara, and S. F. Sing of Oceanside.

A committee of five was ordered to prepare resolutions expressing the appreciation of the association for courtesies of the citizens of San Bernardino, Redlands and Riverside, and of the railroad companies.

Mr. Craig, from the Committee on State Division, submitted a majority and a minority report, the former favoring and the latter opposing division. The reports were ordered printed, and referred to the next meeting for discussion.

The association voted to hold the semi-annual meeting at Santa Barbara.

The meeting then adjourned to proceed on the excursion to The Needles.

Excursion to The Needles.
 The editorial party arrived safely at The Needles, where they were royally entertained, as will be seen by the following dispatch received from that place last night:

The editorial party are here today, being royally entertained by the people of The Needles. On their arrival at 8:45 o'clock they were treated to an elegant breakfast, and after an hour's sightseeing, taken on a trip to the new cantilever bridge, 14 miles east of here. They have just returned, and are now being entertained by a grand Indian game of "shiny," arranged on purpose for their benefit. After that there will be a dinner, and possibly a dance. They leave for home this evening. The party here numbers 60, including many delegates from Northern California.

BRAIN DISEASE.

A Doctor's Severe Criticism of the Medical Profession's Treatment of Their Patients.

In a recent issue of a well-known medical journal, the eminent Dr. L. F. Locke takes his professional brethren to task, for their neglect of the early symptoms of brain disease. After saying that it is a deplorable fact that the early symptoms are almost invariably overlooked by the sufferers and permitted to pass unheeded for, until the time when medical interference is of no avail, he makes this severe remark:

"To dismiss patients presenting head-symptoms with the statement that their trouble is due to disorder of the stomach or liver, is a very convenient way to cover up ignorance." He then mentions this case: "Not long since, a gentleman of this city, of wealth and high social position, one accustomed to using his brain inordinately when necessary, presented himself to his physician with the complaint that he could not sleep and was suffering intensely from headache. These symptoms had been present for several months and were accompanied by dimness of vision, difficulty of speech, burning pain in the abdomen and momentary lapses of consciousness. The physician—a man eminent in the profession—sent him to a thorough examination, and finally dismissed him, saying that all his symptoms were due to disordered digestion, for the relief of which he prescribed an ordinary tonic mixture. He continued his ordinary avocations, and within a fortnight was paralyzed in his left side."

It is a sad but true fact that had this man understood his symptoms and used the great remedy for brain and nerve diseases, Paine's (Clergy Compound), he would have been saved for a life of usefulness. This wonderful medicine was providentially revealed to its eminent discoverer, and if you feel careworn, nervous or brain-weary, you do yourself an injustice if you do not try it today.

C. H. MERRILL, Manager during the summer season manager of the Crawford House, White Mountains, N. H. If you cannot go out to the Raymond and spend a day, a week, or a month, or the whole season, then go out and stay a few hours. It is well worth your while to see the magnificent view from its piazzas, and that view alone will well repay you, although there are many other interesting features—especially the grand display of flowers in the beds of grounds, which are all under the charge of Mr. C. H. Merrill, the celebrated landscape gardener, formerly of Hove's Nurseries, Cambridge, Mass. Tourists visiting Los Angeles should make a trip to the Raymond, even if they stay there must necessarily be brief. There are frequent trains between Los Angeles and the Raymond by several lines of railroad. The orchestra consists of four soloists, who render the choice of music twice each day. A very complete livery is connected with the hotel and it is an excellent starting-point for a drive through the San Gabriel Valley, in which are situated the San Gabriel Mission Church, Rose's winery, Lucky Baldwin's stock farm, the Sierra Madre Villa, and many other places of interest. Full particulars regarding board and other matters can be obtained by addressing C. H. MERRILL, Manager of The Raymond, East Pasadena, Cal.

The Thirteenth State Convention of Fruit Growers will convene in Los Angeles on the 11th of next month, and will be in session four days. It will be an interesting and important occasion.

That phase of the race problem is certainly a peculiar one which is presented in Hayti, a government of black people by black people, where objection is made to the United States Minister on the ground that he is not a white man.

An enterprising Yankee has devised an improvement on "California on Wheels." It is a traveling fair, to consist of no less than forty cars, containing an exhibition of products from all States. This is certainly an age of advertising.

The Canadian premier, referring to the Bering Sea question, announces that "no arrangements have been made in regard to renewal of the modus vivendi." This is serious. Unless something be done soon, our cetus belli will be getting empty, and then what will become of our entente cordiale, not to mention our status quo?

OUR COUNTRY ROADS.

Los Angeles county has suffered more than can easily be calculated during the past few years from horrible roads. We must wake up and get abreast of the spirit of the age in this direction. There is a general movement throughout the country in favor of good roads. An important bill, just introduced in the New York Legislature, provides for a commission of three members, two of whom must be civil engineers, to be known as the State Board of Highway Commissioners. The duty of this board will be to study the needs of the more important highways, and to prepare plans for their improvement. Such a law might, with much benefit be copied in California.

We have frequently urged in these columns the importance of improving our country roads. It is a matter which directly affects the pocket of the farmer, to an extent which he does not always seem to realize. An eastern exchange, discussing the question of a general movement for improved roads, very truthfully remarks that the magnitude of the interests involved has been for a generation or more obscured by the railroad craze, if it be fair so to denominate a movement that has had such splendid results. But while there is still room for many more railroads, the time has come when we have leisure to look into the condition of these less imposing but exceedingly important means of communication between neighbor and neighbor, between county and county, from farm to station. It is these country roads, in fact, that feed the railways. It is by means of them that neighborhood trade and traffic are carried on. Upon their condition depends whether the social intercourse of the people shall be easy and agreeable or onerous and infrequent. And from social intercourse springs enlightenment, refinement, culture—in a word, civilization. That bad roads constitute a heavy tax, a steady drain upon the resources of the country, is a proposition that stands in no need of proof; but how heavy that tax is, and how steady the drain, few who have not given special attention to the subject are prepared to realize. The wear and tear, the breakage of vehicles, the half loads transported, the destructive strain upon valuable teams, make a formidable aggregate, not to mention the discomfort of the human freight and the danger to life and limb. Nor need any business man be reminded of the inevitable rise in the value of country property caused by the construction of good neighborhood roads.

Let us try and get the roads of Los Angeles county into good passable condition. After we get good, plain, every-day roads, it will be time enough to talk about "boulevards."

OUR PROPOSED NAVY—TOO BIG A SCHEME.

As the tremendous appropriations proposed by the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs are being more carefully examined they are coming in for considerable criticism. There is no dispute as to the need of a new navy, and the propriety of liberal expenditures for that purpose, but the immense sum proposed by the committee is calculated to prejudice the scheme.

A majority of the committee has decided to recommend the construction of 227 vessels, at a cost of $349,515,000. Commenting upon this subject, the Chicago Inter-Ocean has the following to say:

"If the United States were situated like England, near powerful neighbors with enormous standing armies and dependent on a navy for protection against invasion, it might be necessary to spend hundreds of millions for war vessels. With England it is a matter of necessity to have a navy; but with the United States it is not one of any other two European powers, but the United States needs only batteries and dynamite guns at the seaports, harbor defenses, and a few warships. The Senate Committee appears to hold that the United States, instead of providing merely for the defense of its seaports and a navy of moderate strength, should expend $349,515,000 for the construction of the most powerful navy in the world, which would consume $100,000,000 annually to keep it properly equipped and the vessels in operation and repair. Such enormous expenditures could be justified only in case the United States intended to adopt a policy of foreign conquest. With Senator Hale's navy of 227 vessels, constructed at a cost of $349,515,000, the United States could easily invade Great Britain and reduce the island to an American colony. The monster fleet could then proceed to subjugate the Indian Archipelago, South America and Australia, and sail into the bay of San Francisco after a tour of conquest around the globe. Are these the designs of the United States? If so, will the Senator and his associates explain how foreign conquest would be accomplished? Of what use would England, France, Germany or Spain be to the United States if subjugated? If the United States is not to be the collector of foreign tribute, what need has it for an overwhelming navy? The defense of our seaports can be secured and the needed ocean-going war vessels built at a quarter of the expense proposed by the Senate committee. Senator Hale's gigantic scheme would financially dispose of the United States Treasury and not only put an end to any reduction of taxes, but call for new imposts, while enormously enriching Eastern shipbuilders and speculators who would get fat contracts from the Government. The whole scheme is absurd."

EDWARD GORGONZA, treasurer of the Spanish-American Commercial Union of New York, says: "Twenty Spaniards speak English where one American speaks Spanish. This is one of the reasons why America has not succeeded in making more headway in getting a foothold in South America."

The growth of the deadly cigarette habit may be realized from the statement that 59 per cent. of the boys attending the public schools of Youngstown, O., are addicted to the practice. Severe measures will have to be taken to combat this growing evil, or the rising generation will be largely composed of emaciated idiots.

The New York Legislature is still quarreling over the World's Fair bill. An acrimonious debate yesterday was followed by a statement from the Speaker that he took the action of the House to mean that it did not want the fair. The chances of Chicago and Washington are improving.

THE TIMES this morning again pays its respects to "Prof." Deity, the mineralogical—and pretty much all-around—fraud. The discoverer of the 500-mile-wide ledge, which reaches from Santa Catalina to New Orleans, has the audacity to say, in a report on the Victoria silver mines of the San Gabriel Canon, that "they are the largest in the world ever discovered!" Deity is the biggest fraud, in his line, that we have ever discovered. That's sure.

AND now the Siamese government has protested against the encroachment of the British flag on its territory. The British flag has a way of encroaching, whenever there is anything to be made by it. Siam's protest will be of little use. After all, if semi-barbarian governments will not keep up with the march of progress, it is better for humanity that they should be absorbed by civilized nations.

THE correspondent of a San Francisco paper complains that it costs an average family in that city more for water than for bread. The correspondent is inclined to be unreasonable. He ought to be thankful that syndicates cannot corner the atmosphere. And then there is beer! That is cheap.

AMUSEMENTS.
GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—The Grimsby Company drew a fair-sized house last night in The Burglar, and the piece will be given for the last time at the matinee tomorrow. Tonight Parfais.

ILLINOIS HALL.—This evening the Illinois Association will offer an attractive bill, including Les Femmes de Paris, numerous musical selections by Miss Rider's orchestra and others, elegant new recitals, and a local comedy called McGinty's Troubles.

AMONG THE POLITICIANS.
The San Francisco Call has been giving its opinion on the State-division question. This is what it says: The proposition to divide the State of California may be dismissed with the statement that there is no such proposition before the people of this State. Such a thing has been suggested, but the people would not accept it. It is a year or two ago when the southern counties were doubling their population and their property valuation every few months, some of the people in the southern counties conceived the idea that it would add to their importance to be set off as a State by themselves. An opening would then be made for aspiring politicians who did not see their way to distinction as a part of the whole State, and the people felt rich enough to maintain a State government. But at present very little is said on the subject. It is not big enough to be talked about. The twin proposition to acquire Lower California in some way, and attach it to the southern counties as a part of the proposed new State, helped to kill the division project. The American people have firmly set their faces against filibustering, and the Mexican government has assured us with some display of temper that Lower California is not for sale. The State of California may be trusted to deal fairly with our southern neighbor, but if the southern counties should set up for themselves, the filibustering spirit might obtain control. Apart from this, the people of the State do not want the State divided.

Referring to the views of Stephen M. White, on Speaker Reed's ruling, the San Francisco Chronicle says: When two such eminent Democrats as John G. Carlisle and Stephen M. White cannot agree upon a question of this sort, the safer way will be to follow the common sense rule laid down by Speaker Reed, which declares that if a member is in his seat in the House he is present, and may be counted as part of a quorum. Sir Booby Booke immortalized himself by his famous dictum that "no man could be in two places at once, barring he was a bird." But this would be rendered wholly nugatory by Mr. Carlisle, who asserts that a member of the House of Representatives may be in the House and out of it at the same point of time, provided he does not vote. Our local statesman, however, takes another view, and declares that if a member declines to vote he is to be deemed present, and this is exactly in line with the ruling of Speaker Reed.

The Chicago Journal reminds Senator Farwell and all of his way of thinking that the little squads of office-seekers here and there are not the people nor the Republican party. They do not make public opinion. The people do not care a cent for them, and popular sentiment is not shaped as they are made glad or mad regarding the way in which the spoils are distributed. The few county-seat politicians who make public opinion, do not do the public opinion. The disappointed office-seekers are rather a subject of popular humor and fun than of any more serious ebullition of public feeling. The sincere friends of Senator Farwell would do well to think of things published about him, for if they were true they would show a low range of political thought in a mind that ought to be above uttering them or cherishing them.

There is one parliamentary rule that always deserves recognition and enforcement in this country, to wit: the rule that the will of the majority shall have precedence over that of the minority. This is what the Republicans are contending for, and the country does not expect them to be satisfied with anything less. So says the Globe-Democrat.

H. C. Hunt of North Carolina, who was the first delegate from that State to support Harrison for the Presidential nomination at the Chicago convention in 1888, has changed his views recently, and now says his "opinion regarding the President and Secretary Noble is not flattering." It is perhaps unnecessary to remark that Mr. Hunt did not get the office he was hunting.

The manufacturers and personal friends of ex-Speaker Randall in Philadelphia have contributed a fund of $50,000 for his family. The money has been invested, and the interest is to be used only.

Eucalyptus on Wet Land.
CLEARWATER, Feb. 12.—[To the Editor of the MIRROR.] In the last MIRROR I notice an article recommending the planting of eucalyptus (blue gum) for fuel, which, though correct in the main, contains one statement liable to mislead those who have had no experience in the matter. I refer to the recommendation to plant on "low swampy land that is good for little else." I find that the idea is very prevalent that the blue gum will not only thrive in such lands, but will dry them up and render them fit for other purposes. This is not so. Instead of thriving in and improving such lands, it will invariably die if planted on land that is soaked with water or impregnated with alkali.

Hundreds of thousands of them have died from these causes in the moist portions of this country, and probably the present wet season will destroy many more.

The blue gum does best on mesa or foothill land, and in such locations will doubtless prove a very profitable crop for those who are able and willing to wait a few years for their returns.

There is a "swamp eucalyptus," which might be successful on wet land, but I know nothing of it except its name. J. J. LUCOCK.

"Rev." James at Long Beach.
LONG BEACH, Feb. 12.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The town was thrown into a great deal of excitement this morning when it became known that G. W. James was in town.

He went to the residence of Mrs. James (who has been granted the custody of the two children) and wished to take them to the beach. She refused his request, but he persisted in the little girl and walked off with her. Mrs. James immediately notified the neighbors, who followed him to the beach. The Marshal was notified and went and secured the child. The mother and children are in hiding at present. E. J. PRATT.

Destitution in San Francisco.
[Pioneer Republican.]
The immediate cause, of course, is the stormy weather which has prevailed for the past two months, but there are other and deeper causes for it. Stock gambling, Louisiana lottery and the absence of manufacturing industries have more to do with the present condition of San Francisco's laboring population than anything else.

WASHINGTON.
A REPORT ON FLORIDA ELECTION FRAUDS.

The Prospects for the International Copyright Bill Improving—Dorchester Confirmed—Secretary Tracy Prostrated.

By Telegraph to The Times.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The Attorney-General's response to the Senate resolution asking for information concerning the operations of the Circuit Court for the Northern District of Florida, was laid before the Senate today. It consists mainly of letters from officials of the court, setting forth that it is impossible to enforce any process of the United States court in that State, and that the judges are abused, the prisoners rescued, and witnesses terrorized. United States Attorney Stripling in a letter informs the Attorney-General that C. S. Sadler, Supervisor of Registration in Alachua county, pleaded guilty to register persons for refusal to register. His violations of the law were flagrant; but in view of his confession of guilt and promises of non-repetition, etc., some prominent Republicans, Stripling says, informed him not to press the judgment against Sadler until the next session of the court. He means to be released on $5000 bail. The purpose of this, the District Attorney says, is ultimately to release Sadler from prison. He recommends that the arrangement be carried out. Philip Walter, Chief Supervisor of Registration, reports the facts of the Sadler case and adds: "I assure you I will inform you that over ten thousand Republican votes were thrown out of seven hundred precincts in this State, at least ten persons in every precinct were kept out of the registration list, and thereby deprived of the right to vote."

In answer to Attorney Stripling's recommendation regarding Sadler, Atty.-Gen. Miller on the 31st of November, 1889, wrote: "It does not seem to me that the administration of law that one so evidently guilty of a grave crime should entirely escape punishment. I have submitted your letter to the President, who concurs in the views above expressed."

Discussing the Treaties.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—In executive session the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations reported back the Russian extradition treaty, with the objectionable clause eliminated, which specifically exempted from the list political crimes, attempts upon the life of the President, and the administration of law that one so evidently guilty of a grave crime should entirely escape punishment. I have submitted your letter to the President, who concurs in the views above expressed.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The House Committee on Patents, by unanimous vote, instructed the chairman of the sub-committee to make a favorable report on House bill No. 3914, the International Copyright Bill, which would give authors and artists copyrights in the United States on the same footing as Americans, providing the type setting, printing and binding are done in the United States. The bill is to be amended to conform to the copyright bill pending in the Senate.

To Relieve the Supreme Court.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The subcommittee of the Senate and House Committee on Judiciary gave a hearing to a committee of the American Bar Association upon bills intended to give relief to the Supreme Court and facilitate the administration of justice. The committee argued in favor of the establishment of an intermediate appellate court.

Postmasters Appointed.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Among the appointments by the President today were the following postmasters:
David Lamont, at Dillon, Mont.
James D. Laman, at Walla Walla, Wash.
William S. Cannon, at San Luis Obispo, Cal.
Joseph McKinnon, at Livermore, Cal.
Jacob E. Whitson, at Selma, Cal.

Galveston's Great Need.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The Senate Committee on Commerce today further considered the bill to make a deep-water harbor at Galveston, and decided to take a vote upon the measure at the next meeting.

Col. Fletcher's Sentence.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The President has confirmed the sentence of the court-martial in the case of Lieut.-Col. Fletcher, but mitigates it to suspension from rank and duty on quarter pay for three years.

Dorchester Confirmed.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The Senate today confirmed Daniel Dorchester to be Superintendent of Indian Schools.

A San Pedro Shoot.

CHAMFORDSVILLE (Ark.), Feb. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Miss Ada Goss, daughter of a prominent citizen, was missed from home last night, and this morning her body was found in a field. She had been assaulted and murdered, having been lashed with a hatchet and shot through the body.

Suspicion pointed toward George Corvett, a distant relative of the family, and with whom Goss had had much trouble. His wife said he came home intoxicated last night and told him he had outraged and murdered Miss Goss. The infuriated people seized Corvett, took him to the scene of the murder, and with an ax cut off his arms and then severed his head from his body.

SAN BERNARDINO'S FAIR.
The Great Fruit Display Opened in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The great fruit fair opened last evening at the Armory building, at Thirty-fifth street, Sixth avenue and Broadway. It is an exhibit chiefly of citrus fruits of San Bernardino county, Cal., although there is a variety of other products. Throughout the length and breadth of the fair, the fruit is displayed in a variety of cases, and the exhibits are of a high standard of excellence. The fruit is of a fine quality, and the display is of a high standard of excellence. The fruit is of a fine quality, and the display is of a high standard of excellence.

NEW YORK'S LEGISLATORS DO NOT WANT IT.
ALBANY, Feb. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] In the Assembly this morning a report that the Committee on the World's Fair bill failed to agree was presented. It was agreed to appoint a new committee. This new committee was made up of members from the city of New York exclusively.

An acrimonious debate followed, in which the law was given. Several members of the committee announced that they declined to serve.

A motion to allow the Speaker to appoint other committees was voted on, and the House itself appointed a committee from the State at large. The Speaker said he took this action to mean that the House did not want the fair.

Another World's Fair conference committee was appointed tonight, but the Legislature adjourned until next Wednesday.

AMONG THE BOOMERS.

The influx into the Sioux Reservation continues.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] The Pioneer Press' Chamberlain special says: "Commissioner of the General Land Office Groff has notified Special Agent Gordon that the rights of the settlers must be secured. The entire tract occupied by townships at Lower Brule had previously been selected by the Indians as allotment land, and under this order all newcomers will be immediately removed. Troops are arriving today to eject them. The crowd still continues to pour in. The ice on the river is becoming absolutely unmanageable, and the weather is cold, dry and crossing will be positively dangerous within 48 hours."

The Pioneer Press' special from Pierre, S. D., says: "Building is going on rapidly on the reservation, and quite a number of huts have taken place. The citizens have formed a vigilance committee, and claim-jumpers will be severely dealt with."

A Big Rubber Deal.
TRENTON (N. J.), Feb. 13.—Cablegrams from England were received by rubber men in this city on Tuesday, to the effect that the English syndicate, to which a party of representatives of Trenton rubber men had gone to negotiate, had agreed to the terms of the Trenton men, somewhat modified, and the sale of the whole rubber interest of that country. The manufacturers met on Wednesday night and approved the modifications, and the deal may now be considered consummated. The amount of the deal will be about one million dollars.

A Theater to Change Hands.
CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—It is announced that John Carson has signed a five-year lease of the Columbia Theater, in this city, to William G. Davis of the Haymarket Theater and Al H. Hyman of San Francisco. The Columbia has changed hands several times since it passed out of the possession of Jack Haverly.

Great Fire at Chicago.
CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—The southern half of the great wholesale block owned by J. V. Farwell & Co. was gutted by fire this morning. The occupants were: Taylor Bros., hats; Wolf Bros., clothing. The loss is $200,000. Farwell's great dry goods stock was saved by a firework. One fireman was badly hurt.

CONGRESS.
THE OKLAHOMA BILL PASSES THE SENATE.

The Brazilian Resolution Adopted by the House—Democrats Vainly Offering Amendments to the New Rules.

By Telegraph to The Times.
WASHINGTON (D. C.), Feb. 13.—[By the Associated Press.] Senate.—On motion of Mr. Dolph the Senate bill appropriating $500,000 for a public building in Portland, Or., was taken from the calendar and passed.

The Senate resumed consideration of the bill to provide a temporary government for Oklahoma, the pending question being Mr. Plumb's amendment to comprise Mr. Man's Land with the new territory.

Mr. Vest again spoke in favor of the amendment. Messrs. Reagan and Plumb also advocated the amendment, the latter saying the condition in which Mr. Man's Land was left was a scandal on the legislation of the country. He expressed amazement that the Committee on Territories had set itself so strongly against the bill without the aid of the committee report.

Finally a vote was taken, resulting: Yeas, 27; nays, 16. Thus the bill includes Mr. Man's Land within the Territory of Oklahoma.

Mr. Plumb also offered an amendment to attach the Cherokee outlet to Oklahoma for judicial purposes. This was rejected after some debate, in which the discussion of several days ago as to the reported threats against the commissioners negotiating with the Cherokee was gone over again.

Mr. Vest offered an amendment prohibiting a legislative assembly from authorizing the issue of any bonds, scrip or evidence of debt for any purpose except certificates for services rendered.

After considerable debate, Mr. Vest modified his amendment, and the amendment was adopted. Some further formal amendments were agreed to, and the bill passed.

After an executive session the Senate adjourned.

House.—The Senate joint resolution was passed unanimously congratulating the people of the United States of Brazil on the adoption of a republican form of government.

Consideration of the code of rules was then proceeded with.

Mr. Cannon from the Committee on Rules reported an amendment requiring titles of committees to be entered in the journal and printed in the record. Adopted.

Mr. Cannon also reported an amendment to rule 15 (relating to roll-call), to provide that after a roll-call the Speaker shall not entertain a request to record a vote or announce a pair, unless the member's name has been noted under clause 3, which is amended to provide that on motion of any member or on suggestion of the Speaker the names of members present to make a quorum in the House shall be noted by the Clerk and recorded in the journal. The amendment was adopted.

Mr. Cannon also reported an amendment providing that executive communications and Senate bills may be referred by the Speaker to appropriate committees without being submitted to the House.

After a brief Democratic protest the amendment was adopted.

Mr. Crisp offered an amendment to the rule providing that no dilatory motion be entertained by the Speaker, adding the words, "But a demand for the yeas and nays shall not be in order." The amendment was rejected.

Mr. Crisp offered an amendment providing that the Speaker shall not, in any case, refuse to entertain a roll-call on his decision. The amendment was lost.

The House took a recess until tomorrow.

AT LOGGERSHEADS.

THE POLICE COMMISSION LA-BORING WITH ITS TASK.

They Find That the Work of Cutting Down the Force is More Difficult Than They Anticipated—No Removals Yet—The Contest to Be Renewed Today.

The Police Commissioners held a protracted session yesterday afternoon, but after spending something over two hours in discussing the best manner of making the removals called for by the retrenchment ordinance, failed to come to any agreement, and adjourned to 1 o'clock this afternoon, when the matter will be again taken up. All of the members were on hand at the hour of meeting, with the exception of Commissioner Knox, who came in about fifteen minutes late, but they remained closeted in the Mayor's private office until 3 o'clock before they came out into the public office and commenced business. The members of the board declined to say what the subject of discussion was, but it is believed that it was the removals, and Commissioner Knox at first refused to join his confederates, under the belief that they were holding an executive session, but on the statement that it was merely an informal talk, he went inside and took part in the deliberations.

At 3 o'clock the board was called to order, when the reading of the minutes was dispensed with and saloon business was taken up.

Chief Glass presented a favorable report in the matter of the application of Bell & Kienner for a saloon license at No. 140 Upper Main street, and the same was granted, on motion of Commissioner Knox.

The Chief also reported favorably in the matter of the application of P. Darkum for the transfer of his saloon license from No. 8 East First street to No. 140 Upper Main street, and the same was granted.

The following petitions for transfers of licenses were granted: C. Richardson, from Tom Shaw, for No. 7 Commercial street; Fane & Chabro, from P. Ballade, for No. 207 Buena Vista street; C. F. Gerken, from Slewicks & Watkins, for No. 414 North Main street; Charles Dillman, from Stuh & Dillman, for No. 252 South Main street; P. Banté, from Bazet & Banté, for northeast corner of Commercial and Los Angeles streets; and H. J. Boyes, from Boyes & Neary, for No. 604 Downey avenue. The application from C. Silverstein for a permit to open a saloon at the corner of San Fernando and Olympia streets, was referred to the Chief for investigation under the rules.

A number of demands, amounting in the aggregate to $389.75, were approved as read.

The bill of Meyberg Bros. for $45.30, for work done in the city hall, was, on motion of Mr. Knox, returned to that firm with a request that they segregate the items contained therein and present them to the Building Committee of the Council for its approval.

The application of Charles Kielman for a position on the force was received and ordered placed on file.

This cleared up the routine business before the board, when there was a dead silence for a few seconds, which was broken by the Mayor, who remarked that since the last meeting an ordinance calling for the removal of ten men from the force had gone into effect. One officer had died, which left but nine to be removed, and some action should at once be taken by the board.

Commissioner Dexter thought that the matter was one of the greatest importance, and he thought that the Chief was the proper person to name the men who are to be removed, as he is better qualified to do this than the commissioners, and for this reason he did not think that the board would be shirking any of its responsibility by asking him to present a list of nine names to the board. He was of the opinion that the greatest care should be exercised in the matter, and no distinction should be made as to party, and for this reason he moved that when the board adjourn it be to 2 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of confirming the action of the Chief in the premises.

This motion did not seem to strike the other members of the board as just the right thing, and, after a considerable debate, Mayor Hazard offered the following amendment: "Preference being given in all cases to poor men who have families dependent upon them for support, and that no discrimination be made on political grounds, but fairness be exercised to both Democrats and Republicans."

Commissioner Collins objected to turning the matter over to the Chief, saying that he would vote against the motion, as he thought he could exercise his own judgment in the matter. Commissioner Knox wanted to know whether, if the resolution adopted, it would bind the board to confirm the Chief's action in the matter of the removals.

The gentleman was informed that it would, when he announced that he would oppose the motion, not because he did not have full confidence in the Chief, but because in this matter it was a question of individual judgment, and he proposed to exercise it. He partially concurred with Commissioner Dexter, and should undoubtedly be guarded to a great extent by his suggestions; but he could not vote for the removal of nine men without first knowing their names, both in justice to himself as well as to them; as he could not vote for something he knew nothing about, and he would not be doing his duty as a member of the commission if he tried to get out of the matter in that way.

Knox insisted upon the following addition: "Each name shall be voted on separately." This started the whole discussion again, and once more the entire subject was gone over in all its phases. Finally, seeing that there was no prospect of arriving at an agreement, Commissioner Knox suggested that an adjournment be taken to 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the Chief, knowing what was expected of him, would present his list, and the board could then take the pay-roll of the force and vote on each name contained therein, which he did not think it right to do in public, and it was to avoid this very thing that he had supported Commissioner Dexter's motion to delegate the whole matter to the Chief.

Commissioner Knox said that he would oppose any executive session, as he did not see anything wrong in asking all necessary questions. He certainly should not go into anything blind, and notwithstanding he had perfect confidence in the Chief, he proposed to have some say in a matter for which he is responsible.

Commissioner Lewis then moved that the board adjourn until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the matter could be taken up without reference to the Chief. This proposition failed to strike the board in the proper light, when there was another debate, which was finally brought to a close by the Mayor stating that he could not be present at the hour named, but he thought the other members could arrange the matter satisfactorily.

Commissioner Knox then moved for a recess until 7:30 o'clock last evening, but it developed that the Chief and Commissioner Dexter and Lewis all had prior engagements, which would prevent their attendance, and another discussion followed, when a compromise was effected by an adjournment to 1 o'clock this afternoon, which result was reached at 4:10 o'clock.

AN EPISODE.

Two Girls and Their Beau Who Didn't Go.

Rather an amusing scene took place at the Wolfskill depot as the last train for Whittier pulled out day before yesterday. A young dude, dressed in a low-cut vest, a red necktie, a dismal smile, and accompanied by two girls, bounded into the depot just as the conductor yelled, "aller board." The dude and his fair companions did not notice that the train was loaded to the last steps until they started to climb aboard. One of the girls found foot room, and the dude followed her, and stood on a space about large enough to accommodate a very small boy, but there was no room for the other girl, who held on to the dude's left hand with a death-like grip. By this time the train was getting under way, and as the girl on the ground could not get aboard, it became evident to the on-lookers that something must give way, as the girl's face showed plainly that she did not propose to let go of her young man's hand. The young lady who had made room for the gallant by her side must have taken in the situation, for she grabbed the young man around the waist and held to him in a most affectionate manner. The train was now going at the rate of five or six miles an hour, and the girl who was clinging to the dude's hand presented a most alarming aspect. Her skirt was long and graceful, and black hose and doted skirts made graceful curves in the wake of the train. As the train passed out of the depot she set her teeth and took a firmer grip on the gallant's arm, when all of a sudden something gave way. The girl on the step, who was clinging to the dude's waist, lost her footing and she and the young man went flying from the train. The next second the three unlucky people were piled up in a heap on the tracks. Fortunately, they all escaped serious injury, and as they picked themselves up and walked off a look which plainly said, "I was determined that he should not go with her and leave me behind," spread over the face of the girl who had failed to get on the train. The trio wended their way down town and dined on ice cream.

GOOD TEMPLARS.

Session of Los Angeles District Lodge.
The Los Angeles District Lodge, I.O.G.T., convened in Merrill Hall, Thursday morning at 10:30. This lodge consists of delegates from all the subordinate lodges of this county, of which there are eleven. The Band of Hope representatives were also present from all the lodges except Downey. The lodge was called to order by District Templar W. I. Hall of Santa Monica. After the report of the Committee on Credentials, a number of delegates were initiated into the district lodge degree.

At 12 o'clock the lodge adjourned to meet again at 1:30. A committee was appointed to prepare a report of proceedings of the session for the daily papers.

Under the report of officers it was shown that the state of the order in the county was better than it had been for years.
H. Clay Needham and John P. St. John, Jr., of Newhall reported that their lodge, which was instituted two weeks ago by Col. Hickman, has a membership of 37, and that there is a bright outlook for a large and influential lodge.

J. L. Lummond of Vernon Lodge invited the members to visit his lodge, which was recently instituted and has a membership of over forty, and is in a flourishing condition.

Reports of the progress of the various lodges were made in short, stirring speeches. H. R. Lee spoke for Santa Monica, W. H. Lloyd and L. S. Simmons for Morris Vineyard, A. P. Shewman for Good Will Lodge of this city, H. Platt for John B. Finch of Los Angeles, P. J. Austin for Hope Lodge of Pomona, Miss Maud McDuff for Rosedale, F. M. Davis for Pasadena and Jesse Farnell and Walter D. Clark for Merrill Lodge. The reports were rendered with much enthusiasm, and showed that Good Templarism is on the advance in this county.

A committee was appointed to prepare petitions to be circulated for signatures requesting the Board of Supervisors to refuse to grant licenses to sell liquor.

A resolution was adopted inviting the cooperation of all temperance organizations, churches, Sunday-schools, etc.
The District Templar was instructed to visit every lodge in the district, his expenses to be paid by the lodge. The superintendent of juvenile templars received like instructions, her expenses also to be paid.

The session was throughout most enjoyable and largely beneficial to the interests of the order.
Arrangements were partially made for the institution of new lodges in the several towns yet without lodges.

In the evening an excellent literary and musical entertainment was given.
The principal speaker of the evening was the Rev. J. H. Collins of the Congregational Railway Chapel. His address was forcible and sparked with wit, which caused frequent interruptions of laughter and applause. He proposed the institution of a lodge near the old Southern Pacific depot.

Following was the programme:
Song, "Welcome Ode"—By the audience.
Prayer—Rev. J. H. Collins.
Address—District Templar Hall.
Recitation—Miss Davis.
Duet—Mr. and Mrs. Peabody.

The young people of the Christian Church will give a Japanese tea at No. 58 Temple street this evening.

The Illinois Association will hold its weekly social this evening in Illinois Hall, with a programme of music and elocution and a local comedy entitled McGinty's Troubles.

Prof. Dickinson will deliver the last lecture of his course at Unity Church this evening. Subject: "Geology of the Stars." His lectures have proved highly entertaining and instructive.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union Telegraph office for Mrs. Mary E. Gassaway, Mrs. E. L. Duglin, W. F. Mitchell, C. G. Breed and John A. Brown.

The anniversary meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held at Fort-street Methodist Church this evening. It was previously announced for last night.

The last of the lottery cases was disposed of before Justice Austin yesterday. H. Wolfstein entering a plea of guilty, and being fined $20, which he paid, and was discharged from custody.

This is the last day of grace for the insurance people to get together, and if peace is not made the insurance war which was promised will probably be precipitated tomorrow. A lively contest is expected if it starts.

Thomas Brown, the man who stole a small coal-oil stove, Wednesday evening, yesterday pleaded guilty to the charge of petit larceny before Justice Lockwood, and was given five days on the chain-gang. The value of the stove is $1.25.

The following are the remainder of the winning numbers of the articles raffled at the fair of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart, held last September: Washington tapestry, No. 708; St. Vibiana, No. 78; valuable lot, No. 58; lion tapestry, No. 238; buggy, No. 41; picture of swan on glass, No. 8.

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce held a short session yesterday afternoon, and after some discussion they decided to take steps to induce the ladies to join the association. Maj. Jones is the principal mover for the woman's annex. The same plan is being worked in San Diego, and has proved a success.

Mrs. Mary Meyers, who figured in police circles some time ago, kicked over the traces again at her home on Mateo street, yesterday afternoon, and disturbed the peace of Frank Messer, who telephoned to the police station for an officer. The patrol wagon was sent out for Mrs. Meyers, and she was taken to the station, where she was locked up.

But little of interest transpired at the City Hall yesterday. The Finance Committee held a special session to consider the bids for supplies, and will report at the meeting today. The License Committee also held a special session, the result of which was that a recommendation will be made that the liquor license remain as it is now, and that the telephone company be raised to $50 per month.

Woodbury's College Lyceum will give a literary and musical entertainment this evening at the college hall on Spring street. The programme will comprise vocal solos by Harry Mabry; instrumental selections by Messrs. Gregg, Law, Kelsey, Newton and Tolier; and Messrs. Tolier and Wardall; recitations by Prof. C. C. Parker and Messrs. de Garmo, Law and Miss Kingsley. The college paper will be read, and there will be a humorous debate.

PEOPLE'S STORE.

FRIDAY IS ALWAYS OUR REMNANT DAY.

We Have an Unusual Amount of Odds and Ends to Dispose of in All of Our Departments.

LOS ANGELES, FRIDAY, Feb. 14, 1890. ODD AND END REMNANT DAY. Our ordinary department sale during the week had its effect upon every department in the store. The crowds that came to buy household goods visited other departments and bought so heartily that odds and ends were created everywhere. We place them all on sale today at our usual remnant and odd and end prices, way below regular ones.

In looking through the different departments for such things as we wished to close out we ran across several things that we're not exactly low enough to put in an odd and end sale, but have made note of them for special announcement. Take curtains, for instance; we give a special offering in them tomorrow. In gents' hats we found some extra good bargains—plenty of them—by putting two or three lines together to make a gigantic special sale, so on Saturday, the 15th inst., we will give a grand special sale of gents' hats. Can't say anything about them now; will give full particulars tomorrow. Watch out for the hat sale. Prices will be left out of sight. GRAND REMNANT AND ODD AND END SALE.
